Dr. Portenier Visits Here; Rates College for AAUW

Dr. Lillian Portenier, professor of psychology at the University of Wyoming, visited San Francisco State last Friday to determine whether or not State meets the standards of the American Association of University Women. Dr. Portenier is a member of the national committee of A.A.U.W. on standards and recognition of universities and colleges.

The American Association of University Women was started in 1881 to raise the educational standards in colleges which allowed women students, to promote interest of women in higher education, and to make sure that women students have the same advantages as men students. It made certain that women were equally represented on the governing bodies of the college, and that women students came into contact with women faculty members of equal caliber to men faculty members.

A.A.U.W. REQUIREMENTS

Colleges and universities must meet five requirements of the A.A.U.W. before they can become a national chapter. The requirements are: 1. the college must be accredited by the regional accrediting association, 2. the college must have its degrees approved by the A.A.U.W., 3. the housing accommodations at the college for women must be approved by the A.A.U.W., 4. the status of women students must be on an equal basis with that of the men students, and 5. academic freedom must exist in the college.

Women graduate members of the national A.A.U.W. are eligible to join local chapters anywhere in the United States. The local chapters provide name speakers at meetings, cultural groups, discussion groups, book reviews, and study groups.

INTERNATIONAL BRANCHES

International branches of the A.A.U.W. are located in Paris, London, and Rome.

There are almost 20,000 branches of the A.A.U.W. in the United States. Some of the colleges which are recognized by A.A.U.W. are Harvard, Yale, California, Mills College, and Stanford.—D. H.

Carnival Committee Sets Policy For S. F. State Fair

'BLOSSOM TIME' TOMORROW NIGHT

The semi-annual Interfraternity - Intersorority Ball, "Blossom Time," will be presented tomorrow evening at the Hotel Sir Francis Drake's Empire Room. Tickets at $3 per couple may be purchased today from members of any of the on-campus service clubs, at the ASSFSC office in Hut 4A, or at the ticket booth in the basement of College Hall. They may also be purchased tomorrow night at the door.

The dance, scheduled to run from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m., will be semi-formal, with the no flower ruling strictly enforced.

"Blossom Time" is open to all students, whether or not they are members of a service club. Music by Bob Searle's band.

Associated Students Will Help Finance Individual Club Booths

The San Francisco State Fair Carnival Committee met March 20 to outline policy for the fair, which will be held May 9, and determine approximately how many organizations are going to participate. The committee consists of one representative from each organization.

U. S. Policy Topic For Asilomar Meet

Word Affairs Confab Set For April 18-20

Several hundred students from Northern California colleges and high schools, along with a large number of foreign students, will gather at Asilomar, Pacific Grove, California, April 18-20, for the third annual conference of the Student World Affairs Council. The general topic for discussion will be "United States Policy Faces Rising Nationalism."

During the three days of activity, students will assume the roles of international political experts, and endeavor to solve the problems facing America and other nations today, problems which stem from the relations between nationalism and our foreign policy. Participants in the conference will exchange ideas at talks and round-table discussions. Students will be given opportunity to hear outstanding speakers lecture on the conference theme and to question them on any phase of the subject.

Among the speakers who will address the assembled students are Frederick Spiegelberg, Ph.D., professor from India at the Graduate School of Asiatic Studies in San Francisco; Dr. Wayne Vucinich, an expert on the Balkans and the Near East; Norbert Einstein, economic consultant; Dr. Lawrence Sears, professor of political theory at Mills College; Allen Griffen, formerly connected with Point Four in Southeast Asia; Elenor Bisbee, authoress on the Near East; and Paul A. Baran, professor of economics at Stanford University.

The conference is sponsored by the Student World Affairs Council, and under the direction of Arthur E. Breisky, conference chairman from Stanford University.

Skills Test April 4

Competency tests in penmanship and arithmetic have been scheduled for Friday, April 4. The penmanship test will be held in AA8 from 3 to 4 p.m., and the arithmetic test from 4 to 5:30 p.m. in AB2.

Norry Volk, chairman of the committee, informed the group that if an individual organization does not feel financially able to maintain a booth, the Associated Students will lend the group the necessary funds against their treasury. The organization should contact Jack Healy, business manager of the Associated Students, in Hut 4A, for details on a loan.

All organizations will receive the profits of their individual booths. According to the state law, 15 per cent of the profits from a game of chance must be given to some worthy organization.

TICKETS FOR CASH

No exchange of money will be allowed over the counters. All value exchanges will be made with tickets. The money will be handled by the Faculty Wives Club at a main station. The organizations may redeem the tickets for cash at the Student Body Office, Hut 4A, on the following day. The standardized value of the tickets, and a minimum price which the organizations may charge, will be determined at the next meeting of the carnival committee.

The organizations will not be allowed to redeem their tickets unless at least one member of the organization shows up for the clean-up drive the day following the fair. The Associated Students will pay the representative $5. An area for burning trash will be provided, and trucks to cart away rubbish will be available.

NO FOOD BOOTHS

Because the Associated Students has arranged for an outside caterer to handle all food for the State Fair, no organization will be allowed to have a food concession. Food such as can goods may be given as prizes, but no food which is edible on the spot may be awarded.

The carnival booths will be located on the west basketball courts on the new campus. The front of each booth must be on a parallel line because there will be a purple and gold skirt put up to connect all the booths. The P. A. system will play music during the day, and make announcements.

Volk urged that definite plans for the individual booths be turned into the committee at the next meeting, which will be held April 3, at 12 noon in Hut 4B, and that all organizations send a representative.

Leonard to Speak Monday At Oregon Conference

Dr. J. Paul Leonard will be at the University of Oregon in Eugene, Ore., Monday, March 31. The president of State will make the luncheon address at a meeting of the Northwest Conference on Higher Education. This group is made up of administrative officers and presidents of colleges in the Northwest area.

Among the colleges and universities attending the conference are: Washington, Washington State, Oregon, Oregon State, Idaho, and Nevada.

S. F. State Honors German Teachers At Dinner Here

Nineteen German teachers were honored at a dinner held here March 19.

Six months ago 165 teachers came to the United States from Germany to study and observe the American educational system. Of this group, 19 came to San Francisco State for their work. This program is part of an exchange program, provided by the United States government, in which 52 nations are participating.

Several of the German teachers gave a summary of their work and the personal impressions received here. Throughout the speeches the idea was expressed that by individual contact and a sharing of intellectual ideas a more stable peace can be built. The summary of their experiences was divided into three groups, experiences in school life, experiences in community life, and personal experiences.

In the concluding speech, Wolfgang Thode gave the last farewell, in which he expressed his gratitude for all that had been done for them and the friendliness that had been shown to them. Fritz Kiessling then presented Mrs. Ella Newton, head of the project, with a bound record of the group's work and observations. The proceedings were closed with German songs sung by the visiting teachers.

FROSH PICNIC PLANS MADE AT CLASS MEET

Plans for the freshman picnic, which will be held Sunday, April 27 at the Painted Pink Horse Ranch, were discussed at the first freshman class meeting of the spring semester on March 18.

The picnic grounds include two swimming pools, a softball field, riding stables, dance floor, and a hiking area. There will be a charge of $1.20 per person. Free cokes will be served.

Betty Lumsden was appointed chairman of picnic publicity.

Further plans for the picnic and plans for a booth for the State Fair will be discussed at the next freshman class council meeting.

Radio-TV Guild Will Air New Women's Programs

As a new feature of its expanding campus coverage, the Radio-TV Guild has recently announced the addition of a special series of women's programs to its broadcast schedule. The new shows will be aired either four or six times weekly after the regular hourly newscasts. They will feature late fashion hints, home economics tips, and other items of interest to the ladies.

Such coverage had been previously considered because of limited programming time. However, the Board of Directors of the guild in approving the new series, now also plans to increase female participation in the weekly KRTG variety program.

Friday Last Day to File Applications For Welfare Exam

April 4 is the deadline for filing applications for examinations for entrance social worker openings in 48 county welfare departments.

The examinations will be given on April 19 in areas throughout the state. The areas selected will be as close to the residences of candidates as possible. Eligible lists resulting from the examinations will be used by non-civil counties to fill future vacancies.

College students who have successfully completed three years of undergraduate work in any field are eligible to take elementary exams; students who have completed a year of graduate study in any field will be allowed to take the advanced test.

Beginning monthly salaries will range from $190 to $260. Applications and additional information may be obtained from the Merit System Examining Agency, P. O. Box 2709, Sacramento 9, Calif.

Tryout Deadline Tonight For 'Othello' Program

Tryouts for the spring production of Shakespeare's "Othello," which is to be presented May 8 to 10 and 15 to 17 are to be continued today from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in AA12. Applicants may use any standard uncut edition of the play.

Anyone who wishes to take part but cannot attend Friday's tryouts can make other arrangements by seeing the director, Jules Irving. Many parts are available, and they are open to the entire student body.

Top State Entertainers Spark Hour Long Orientation Rally at Lincoln High School

An hour rally at Lincoln High School last Friday featured many of State's top-flight entertainers in the first orientation rally of the spring semester.

Opening the rally was State's Air Force R.O.T.C. color guard, which marched into the high school auditorium.

Master of Ceremonies DeVon Stanfield then introduced the first entertainer, baritone Dean Berg, who presented four songs, among them, Jerome Kern's "Ole Man River."

He was accompanied at the piano by Norry Volk, who also did some solo work.

DIXIELAND JUMP

The Music Federation's five-piece Dixieland group bounced out several renditions of classic jump tunes to the delight of the assembled students.

Jennie Reyes, a candidate for the title of "Miss San Francisco," then came on stage to present her hula number.

Naomi Carlisle, a Lincoln student, joined Stanfield in a spontaneous demonstration of the popular dance step, the Charleston.

JOHNSON TALK

Concluding the program by giving a yell for Lincoln and State, were Carol Barnidge and Jennie Reyes. Don Johnson, president of the Associated Students, then gave a short talk about State College to the high schoolers.

Today at 9 a.m., the same group, aided by Gene Busby, comedy pianist, and Angelo and Rose Marie Rodriguez, singers, entertained the seniors of Commerce High School.

Looking Around...

By Robert E. Preble.

Of the 50 or so recognized organizations on campus, 17 fall into the rather loose category of "interest and pre-professional" groups, which is, in reality a phrase used to tie together the non-fraternity, non-class, and non-religious activities programs which are so varied that they may be grouped under anything but a broad generalization.

They range all the way from the Art Federation to the Women's Athletic Association, skipping haphazardly over the wide field in between. With a little stretching the "pre-professional" heading includes CSTA, the student arm of the California Teachers' Association, the Business Club, Theta Sigma Rho, the recreation society, and Block S, the lettermen's organization. In the case of these and some of the rest it is sometimes hard to draw a line and say just where the pre-professional interest leaves off, and the just plain interest begins. For example, take such outfits as the Radio-Television Guild, the Music Federation, the Mental Hygiene Association (or, less formally, the Psych. Club), or the Speakers' Bureau. It's not really necessary to have a major in any of those areas to get a bang out of what these groups have to offer.

Other groups aim more frankly toward the universal appeal. The International Relations Club strives hard to reach the entire student body with its programs, as does the United Language Club. The Beta Sigma Music Club points that way, too. All that they ask is that you like music, and any kind at that.

The other interest groups have a more-or-less limited clientele—Beta Pi Sigma, the natural science club, the Ski Club, for snow birds and such, Delta Sigma Nu, the women's home ec. society, and the all-male Industrial Arts Forum.

Now, as you can see, there is plenty of room left for other activities, just as there is in the other phases we've covered previously. At the time of this writing some constructive effort is being undertaken in the social science department. A pre-professional social welfare group is being formed, and plans are also under way for a general social science club. This last might really develop into something fine. As it stands now, just about everybody in the social science field will be able to find something there to his liking. If you're interested drop around and see Mr. Boyd Huff, Miss Peggy Hime, or someone in the social science office, CH119, for the details.

As we've said time and time again, as far as new organizations are concerned, it's still "Opportunity Unlimited." For instance, what about a gourmet's club, to be a sort of S. F. State Duncan Hines? Or a book club? And who ever heard of a school without a Pan-American Club? Or—well, you name it.

The same rules go. If you find something you like, join it! And if you can't find anything to appeal to you, go out and start something on your own! If you want publicity for your ideas, here's the place to get it. But please, oh, please, you'll never know how much you've missed unless you start looking around to see just what this thing called "campus life" is like.

Asch's New Book Topic of Lecture

Mrs. S. Ruth Witt-Diamant, professor of English here, will speak at the Jewish Community Center at 8 p.m. Monday, March 31.

Mrs. Witt-Diamant will speak on Shalom Asch's new book, "Moses." Mr. Asch, who is also the author of "The Nazarene" and "Mother," writes all his material in Yiddish. He interprets biblical figures in a contemporary sense.

On Wednesday, April 23, Mrs. Witt-Diamant will address a group at Berkeley Jewish Community Center. She will speak on Asch's works there also.

'Happy Days' Are Here Again, If You Don't Get a 'Cinch'

Those little slips (cinch notices) soon will be out. If you haven't been hitting the books, you, too, may get one.

Cinch notices are the slips issued from the registrar's office to inform you that your instructors think you are doing less than satisfactory work in one or more of your courses. If you are getting all A's, B's, and C's, don't look for a notice. But if you have any D's or F's, you'll get one.

"If you get a cinch notice," says Alan Johnson, dean of men, "by all means see your instructors and your adviser. Talk with each instructor to find out your particular shortcomings in his course, and get what suggestions he has for improvement. Talk with your adviser concerning the possibilities of reducing your load so that you may do better in the remaining courses."

"If you are having trouble with study habits or if your motivation is low because of personal problems, the hot breath of the draft, or because you are unsure about your vocational plans or what you are getting out of college, discuss these matters with your adviser or one of the counselors in the Counseling Service, CH105. But by all means do something about it. It doesn't pay just to sit around in a stew."

Mid-semester grades are to be filed by the instructors in the registrar's office not later than March

Freeman and Late Papers

When the subject of late papers comes up, Mr. David Freeman of the psychology department has an opportunity to express his opinions about his pet peeve.

Mr. Freeman remembers how he, as a college student, worked hard to get his papers in on time. But there would always be those that would hand in their papers after the deadline. Since they had a longer time to do their work, they would have a better chance for a good paper. Mr. Freeman points out that this isn't fair to the other students.

He tells this story about the 5:17 train. Every evening he has to catch the 5:17 train to Palo Alto, where he lives. There may be plenty of legitimate excuses for not making it on time. The bus could break down, you could lose your fare along the way, an accident could hold you up.

If he misses his train he suffers the consequences and has to wait for another, slower train.

So, he says, if the students miss getting their assignments in on time they too will suffer. Mr. Freeman states, "Mature behavior is characterized by: 1. Knowledge of the problem; 2. familiarity with the alternatives and, most important, 3. willingness to take the consequences of your decision."

Many of the professors have the same attitude regarding late papers, so, come on, let's all "make that 5:17."—By Joyce Wimberly.

Aviation Cadet Program Offers Special Opportunities for Collegians Now Preparing for Military Service

Here is a real man-size opportunity! You can choose—immediately—between being a Pilot or Aircraft Observer in America's swiftly-expanding Air Force. The Air Force encourages candidates to stay in school and graduate. However, seniors and students with two years or more of college who anticipate early entrance into military service can insure their future and serve their country best by applying for Aviation Cadet Training today. You receive the finest training and experience when you fly with the U. S. Air Force—experience that pays off in later years.

WHO MAY APPLY

AGE—Between 19 and 26½ years.
EDUCATION—At least two years of college.
MARITAL STATUS—Single.
PHYSICAL CONDITION—Good, especially eyes, ears, heart, and teeth.

HOW TO QUALIFY

1. Take transcript of college credits and copy of birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station.

2. Appear for physical examination at your nearest Air Base or Government expense.

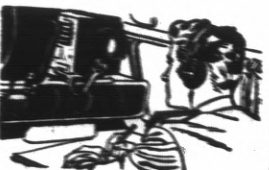

3. Accomplish Flying Aptitude Tests and enlist for two years only!

4. The Selective Service Act awards you a four-month deferment while awaiting class assignment.

5. Immediate assignment to Aviation Cadet Training Classes starting May 27, July 19, August 19 and October 2, 1952.

6. Attend Aviation Cadet Training School for one year—either as Pilot or Aircraft Observer. Get $105 monthly plus food, housing, uniforms, and other benefits.

7. Graduate and win your wings! Commissioned as a second lieutenant, you begin earning $5,000 a year. In addition, you receive $250 uniform allowance and a 30-day leave with pay.

Swimmers and Golfers Reap Wins

Divoteers Overwhelm St. Mary's 19-8 in Initial Fairway Victory of Season; Natators Register 44-40 Decision Over Vastly Improved Cal Aggie Squad

The S. F. State swimming team eked out a 44 to 40 victory over a vastly improved Cal Aggie squad last Friday afternoon at Davis. This was the second meeting of the two clubs this season. In a previous contest the Gator mermen overwhelmed the Aggie men 50 to 24 in a splash-fest at the new campus pool.

Tonight the local natators play host to the boys from Treasure Island. The meet starts at 7 p.m. in the new campus pool, and according to Coach Hal Harden, the sailors should provide tough competition.

Outstanding individual performances turned in last Friday for the Statesiders were Bob Northcutt's victory in the 50 yard free style; Bob Jiminez's first place in the medley relay; and Warren Stockard's second place in the 200 yard breast stroke.

The Gator relay team consisting of Bob Northcutt, Frank Blair, Dave Duranleau, and Bob Jiminez put the meet on ice by handily annexing their event.

Blasting out their first victory in three starts, the Gator golf squad dumped an enthusiastic, but inexperienced St. Mary's team 19 to 8, Thursday, March 20, at the Richmond golf course. Medalist for the day was John Sheehy of St. Mary's with a 79.

The lineup and point-takers for State are as follows: Jim Coltrell 1, Bill Grant 0, Joe Willis 3, George Shandra 3, Augie Costa 3, and Dick Briggs 3.

In the team competition Joe Willis and George Shandra banded together to annex three points while Augie Costa and Dick Briggs also paired up to sweep three points from their opponents.

Yesterday, the local fairway crew met the perennially tough S. F. Police Dept. team at the Harding Municipal course.

Staters Bow in Track Debut; Frosh Jim Shettler Shines

Featured by the fine early season showing of freshman distance ace Jim Shettler and the sparkling quarter-mile dash of talented Vic Gipson, another frosh, San Francisco State managed to stay only within breathing distance before succumbing to Menlo J. C. last Friday afternoon at Cox Stadium. The score: Menlo, 79½; S. F., 58; Marin JC, 15½.

The glaring weakness of the Gators in the field events gave the Peninsulans an early lead which they managed to hold onto even though being outscored by Coach Ray Kaufman's thinclads on the track.

The track season was ushered in with a bang with Jim Shettler coping the mile after coming from 5 yards back rounding the final turn. He just managed to nip favored Shafer of Menlo at the wire for a thrilling win in the good early season time of 4:46.2. Shettler also posted an easy win in the two mile in 10:55.

Vic Gipson, poet-athlete, racked up one of the best times of the day in winning the 440 in 52 seconds flat. Gipson should lop a second and a half off this time to set a new school record before season's end.

The Gator sprint artists, failed to impress in the initial outing. Mullen of Menlo copped both dashes in 10.3 and 22.8. Len Posey followed Mullen in both events.

Tomorrow Kaufman will lead his charges to Sacramento for a dual meet with the State College in the capitol city.

The results:

Ludlow's Sport Snorts

by Lynn Ludlow
Sports Editor

J. Paul Leonard told us this week he favors the adoption of the Triple C plan. The proposed athletic conference, composed of all the 10 state colleges, will give impetus to intercollegiate sports, cut out overemphasis, and stop special aids to gifted athletes.

The California College Conference, or, if you like, the Triple C, was recommended by a State College Athletic Committee, which met here at the new campus March 13 and 14.

NUMEROUS ADVANTAGES

Obviously, the new conference has numerous advantages. A shot in the arm will be administered to the sagging spring competition in the smaller colleges. Added impetus will be given to football and basketball league play because the conference crown will offer new incentive to teams previously independent. Of course, the recommended policies of athletic scholarships parallel the popular waves of disapproval beating against overemphasis of athletics.

President Leonard, who served on the planning committee, feels the idea of the proposed conference will be to promote truly amateur sports (as opposed to the football factories operating at most Bay Area colleges). Amateur, as Leonard applied the word, means no special scholastic aids to athletes, no training table, no room and board, no tuition or books, no scholarships, and no private donations to individuals.

FAR-REACHING EFFECT

The adoption of the proposed plan will have far-reaching effects on the student life at S. F. State. There is a possibility that such a league—combined with the comparatively isolated new campus—might transform State's "school spirit" into a potent force.

Naturally, larger local universities and colleges will get first pick of talented athletes. But State will come in for its share now that scholarships are no longer available at USF, St. Mary's, Nevada, and Loyola, and, with the passage of the Triple C proposal, at San Jose State and Fresno State.

S. F. BIG COLLEGE

S. F. State, having a larger cross-section of students and more facilities for athletics than do most colleges, will be in a fair way to dominate the minor sports in the Northern Division, which includes S. F. State, Humboldt State, Chico State, San Jose State, Fresno State, and Sacramento State. The door is wide open for the Cal Aggies and any other independents to join.

PRACTICE PREACHING?

The coaches spend a hard day's work wedging lofty philosophies concerning "a sound mind and (very forcefully) a sound body!" into their students' minds. Then they rush off to play badminton, completely disregarding all traditional rules by following their own advice.

At the top of the heap in badminton play is Joseph J. Verducci, who is director of athletics and football coach on the side. He confounds and confuses his opponents with his devastating "poop shot." He was once caught off guard saying, "I'll take on anyone in the school."

Bill Harkness, Dan Farmer, Bob Troppman, Joe Moore, Ray Kaufman and the rest of the gang swear revenge, but are helpless. They are gradually catching up to Little Joe, but they all maintain he has had a good head start.

Mural Track Meet Set

The long awaited day will soon be here. After two postponements, the intramural thinclads will finally have their moments next Tuesday and Thursday when the interclass track meet will be run.

Actually this affair will be a three in one meet. That is to say, an individual may win three honors in one event. Let us take a hypothetical case for an example. John Jones, a senior of the Kappa Omega fraternity, wins the 50 yard dash. By taking this event he earns a ribbon for himself, 5 points for the senior class, and 5 points for his fraternity. Thus there will be a winning intramural team plus a winning class team.

Although track block winners are excluded from this meet, members of the track team who have not won blocks are eligible to earn points for their class, and also to win individual ribbons. However, they may not take points for their intramural club if they should be long to one.

Last year's intramural team winner was the Alpha Zeta Sigma fraternity, while class honors were annexed by the Freshmen.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 37...THE SWORDFISH

They crossed swords with the wrong man when they engaged this swashbuckling senior in combat! At first, he was foiled by the tricky, "one-puff" . . . "one-sniff" cigarette mildness tests. But he parried their thrusts with this gleaming sword of logic: The only way you can judge mildness is by steady smoking. That's the true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

After all the Mildness Tests . . .
